

Beech Hill Afternoon Tea

Beech Hill owner Patsy O’Kane says: ‘Afternoon tea used to be served in homes, hotels and cafes all across Ireland. And then it seemed to go out of fashion. But it’s such fun, so we have brought this fine tradition back again and we are serving the most beautiful variety of cakes, pastries and sandwiches, all of which are made fresh in our kitchens every morning.

‘It will be a great way to celebrate a special occasion or ideal for a group of friends to get together in the daytime and chat for one or two hours in our beautiful lounge. After all, not everybody wants to go out in the evening to mark a birthday, end of school or an academic success.’

Our photograph shows what will be a typical array of goodies; strawberry, lemon and kiwi fruit tarts, chocolate brownies and scones with jam and fresh cream. There’ll be cup cakes and Battenburg. Then we will have a big choice of sandwiches. Pastry chef Miriam says: ‘As a matter of course I will be able to offer around a dozen different kinds, but there is almost no limit to the fillings I can provide.’

Patsy O’Kane says that on warm summer days afternoon tea may be served in the shade of the hotel’s giant beech trees. And there are plans to hold Sunday afternoon tea dances in Beech Hill’s giant marquee.

The afternoon teas are available from 3:00pm - 6:00pm daily and will be priced from £12.95 depending on how big a variety of sandwiches and pastries are ordered. Guests will have a choice of tea or coffee. To book call 028-7134-9279 or email info@beech-hill.com
