BEECH HILL: WINE AND DINE IN LUXURY

JANUARY CAN BE A DEPRESSING SORT OF MONTH. ALL THE FESTIVE SEASON FUN IS BEHIND US AND THE WEATHER ISN'T LIKELY TO BRING MUCH CHEER. BUT HERE IS SOME GOOD NEWS!

The folks at Beech Hill Country House, a hotel known all over the world for its cosiness, warm hospitality and superb food, are laying on a couple of real treats for us.

First of all, lazy Saturday lunches for people who like to dine in the early part of the day and who are in no rush to return home or to work. It is a special package that will suit small groups of easy-going friends. For just £79.95 four people can enjoy a 3-course lunch with tea or coffee – and the Beech Hill will include 2 bottles of good wine. A more heart-warming deal than that we don't know.

And for those who prefer evening-time dining Beech Hill and wine shippers Woodford Bourne have got together to offer 'A Celebration of Food', a 3-course early evening dinner with a selection of eye-catching dishes by internationally known chef Trevor Hambley. Trevor, who has cooked for royalty and global stars of show biz, will prepare three stunning courses for you. The meal will include a glass of wine, and tea or coffee. And the price is only £19.95 each.

The special early evening dinner is served from 5 o'clock until 6.30pm. Those lazy Saturday lunches are available between 12.30 and 2.30.
